PIFTH WARD NEGRO QUARTERS.

At about 11 p. m. an attack was made on the negro quarters in York street by a mob of rowdies. Several of the houses were sacked, and the inmates driven out into the streets. An alarm was inmediately given, and a squad of policemen were dispatched, and, on arriving at the scene, made a gallant charge on the infuriated rowdies, and dispersed them. An attack was also made on the houses in Thomas street by a number of boys and thieves, but they were quickly dispatched by the police. At midnight intelligence was received by President Acton that all was quiet in the Fourth and Fifth Wards.

What is it that differences the obedient soldier member, that when a mob sot fire to the city and murdered men in open day, it was a Democratic paper which printed articles incting to this visualization. Thus, by boldy asserting the antipodes of troth, this unscriptulous and incendiary journal hopes to conceal its own immediate accountableness fought in two years of battles, has as great an interest could or should have quickly dispatched by President Acton that all was quiet in the Fourth and Fifth Wards.
